Flynn Development Corporation was founded in 1976 as a subsidiary of Landura Corporation headquartered in Woodburn, Oregon. It was originally called Landura Corporation of the South. In February of 1980, RTF Associates purchased all of the stock of the company from Landura Corporation. In March 1980 the name was changed to Flynn Development Corporation by RTF Associates. In August 1980 Thomas F. Flynn acquired the right to continue the business interests and the right to use the name Flynn Development Corporation from RTF Associates. A new Florida corporation was formed called Flynn Development Corporation. Flynn Development Corporation is wholly owned by Thomas F. Flynn.
